

text
text text text text text text text text text text text text text text text
text text text text text text text text text text text text text text text
text text text text text text as seen in Figure 1

III. Fabrication

Figure 1: A sample image.

IV. Results

A. Simulation

B. Measurement

V. Conclusion

Acknowledgment

The authors would like to express their gratitude to the exceptionally diverse academic community which is composed of all races, gender identities and religions. The unique experience, insight and perspective that diversity provides is what makes progress, scientific or otherwise, possible.

References

- [1] J. A. Byford, M. I. M. Ghazali, S. Karuppuswami, B. L. Wright, and P. Chahal, "Demonstration of RF and Microwave Passive Circuits Through 3-D Printing and Selective Metalization," IEEE Transactions on Components Packaging and Manufacturing Technology, vol. 7, no. 3, pp. 1–9, 2017.